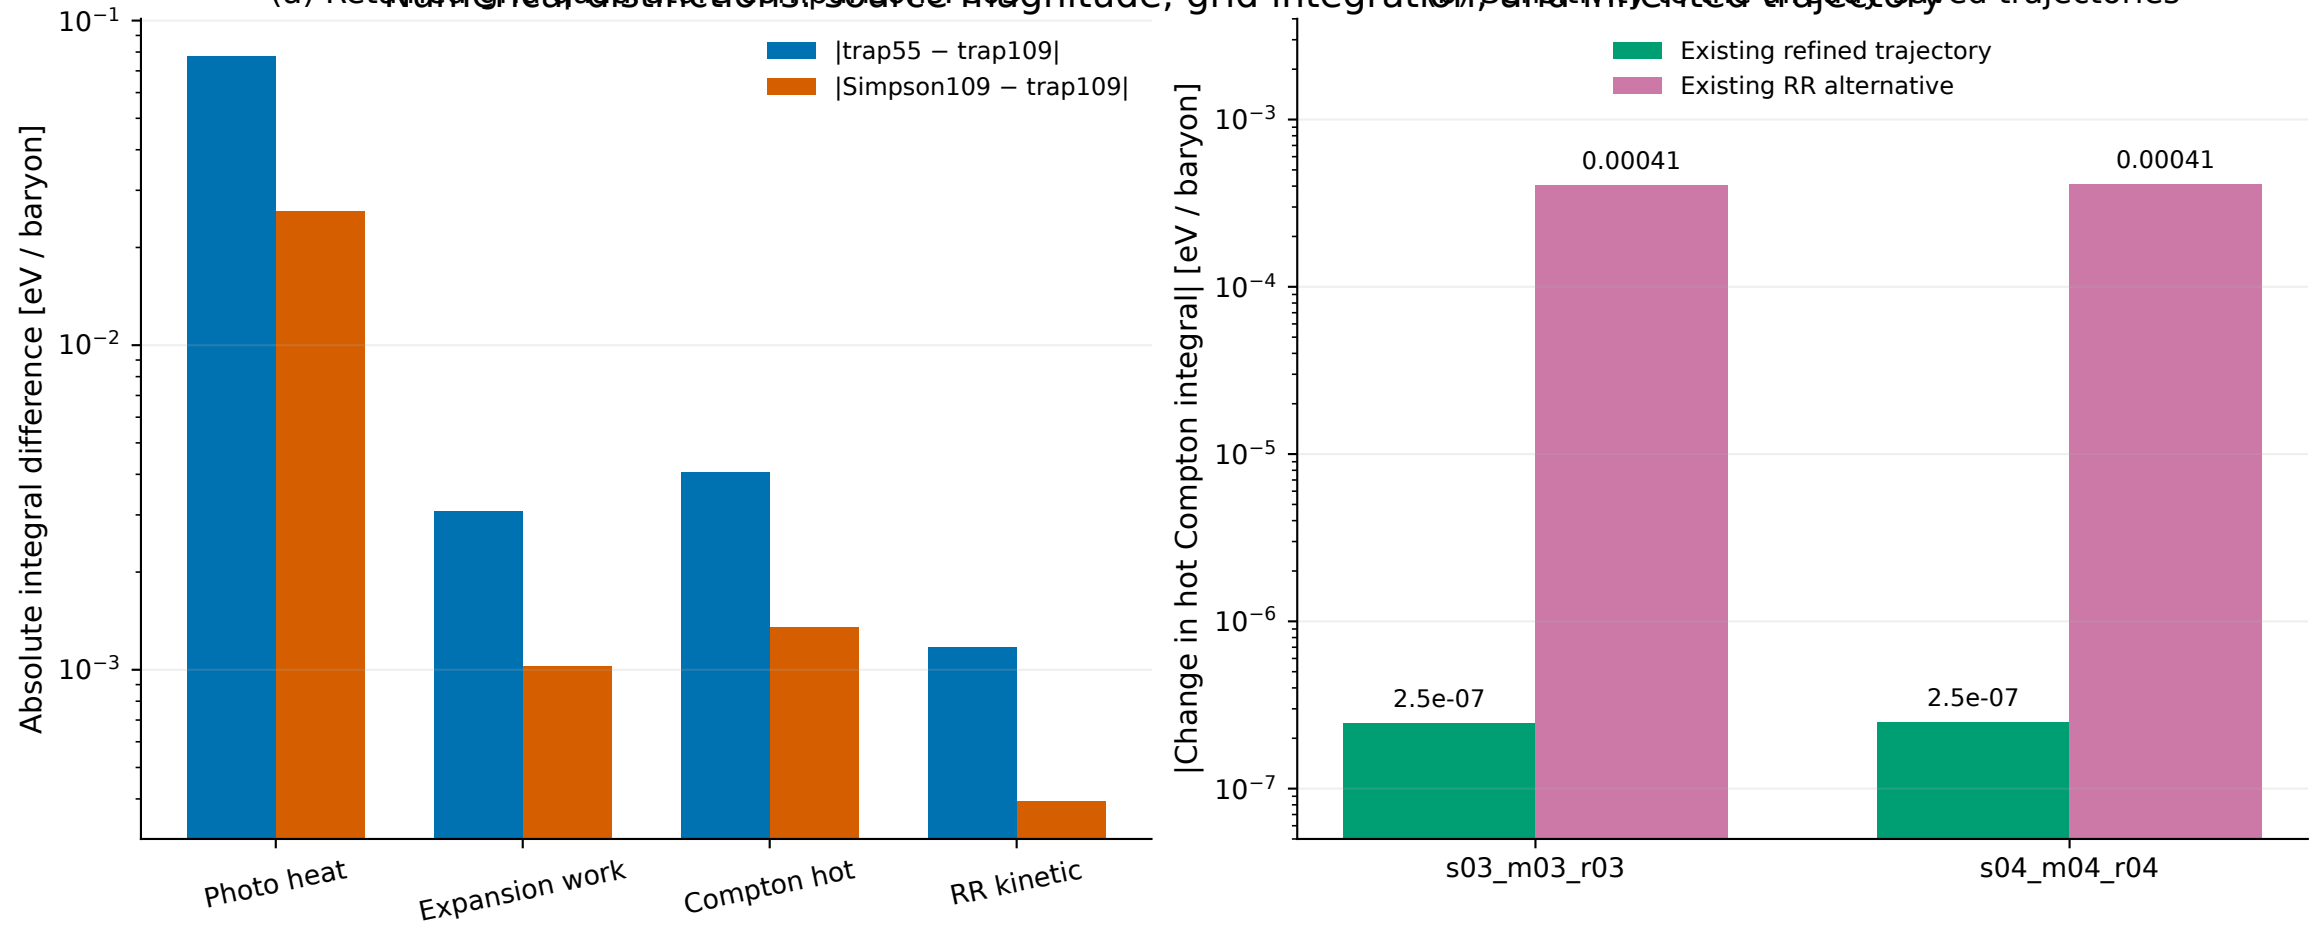
Numerical distinctions: source magnitude, grid integration, and inherited trajectory

(a) Retained grid-distinction comparisons: s03

(b) Sensitivity to the already-saved trajectories



The 55-node grid is a subset of the same 109 samples. No interpolation, new ODE, or continuum error bound.
RR alternatives change a source model; their differences are not numerical uncertainty estimates.